

NEWS

20/20

Segment on Female Sexual Dysfunction & Physical Therapy

Featuring Amy Stein, MPT

Friday, August 7, 2009 at 10 P.M. EST

Be sure to tune into 20/20 next Friday at 10pm ET, when Dr. Timothy Johnson, ABC News' Chief Medical Editor, will discuss the diagnosis and treatment of sexual pain disorders and vulvodynia with Andrew Goldstein, MD, and Amy Stein, MPT. Dr. Goldstein directs the Center for Vulvovaginal Disorders in Washington, DC, and New York City. Ms. Stein, a New York-based physical therapist, specializes in the treatment of pelvic and urogynecological pain disorders. The segment will also feature the stories of two women with sexual pain, as well as an interview with Christin Veasley, NVA's associate executive director, and her husband Melvin.

To check your local listings, visit: <http://www.tvguide.com/Listings/default.aspx>

